Subject: "Moments in Time," New Mexico's Full-Color Calendar is Available

The New Mexico Bureau of Land Management is very pleased to introduce "Moments in Time: Preserving the Past on New Mexico's Public Lands," a full-color calendar for 2003 that will bring New Mexico's beauty to your office or home throughout the coming year. This calendar showcases 12 of New Mexico's world-class archaeological and historic treasures in spectacular photographs by renowned photographer Lorrán Meares. Meares' images of Chacoan Great Houses at Casamero and Guadalupe; historic retreats, homesteads, and ghost towns at Dripping Springs, Quemado, and Lake Valley; incomparable rock art from El Malpais, Three Rivers, La Cieneguilla, and Walt Canyon; and the Garnsey Bison Kill site are paired with photographs of volunteers and BLM staff working to preserve New Mexico's treasures for the future. Many of the sites and places featured in "Moments in Time" are well off the beaten track; until you can visit, enjoy a public lands adventure without leaving the office!

These calendars are now available for purchase through the Public Lands Information Center (PLIC) bookstores in Santa Fe, Albuquerque, and Roswell for $8.95. Add $4.00 for shipping and handling for orders of 1 - 11; for 12 or more, PLIC will cover shipping and handling. Contact a PLIC bookstore to get your copies for friends and family – this is a gift that will remind everyone on your list of the wonderful public lands that we all work so hard to conserve, preserve, and manage responsibly for America. You can place orders by phone at Albuquerque's Wide Open Spaces bookstore, (505) 345-9498; Roswell's PLIC bookstore, (505) 627-0210; Santa Fe's PLIC bookstore, 1-877-276-9404, or through the web at www.publiclands.org.
